A Trusted Name

With nearly a decade of experience in the local market, our team operates specifically in the Eastern European market providing commodity risk-management solutions to producers, consumers, exporters and importers, as well as other commodity traders.

Hedging Tools

We design and execute hedging programs that utilize the markets to retain and enhance your margins. We execute them using a range of products from listed exchange-traded futures and options, to OTC instruments that offer great flexibility and are highly customizable.

Market Maker

INTL FCStone Markets, LLC (IFM) is a market maker in over-the-counter options and swaps in agricultural as well as energy and FX products. As such, we offer competitive pricing while keeping our client's position and trade anonymous.

IRMP

The FCM Division of INTL FCStone Financial offers a unique customer-centric approach to commodity risk-management. The program is designed to link planning, performance, and accountability into a strategic risk-management plan based on customer goals, objectives and expectations.

Margin

Pending credit approval, IFM provides customers credit thresholds for trading purposes to help free up working capital by reducing the margin requirements required by traditional exchange-traded derivatives.

Physical Knowledge

Our expertise extends into the physical and cash markets where we help our customers by facilitating transactions using our knowledge of the local cash market and extensive global market presence.
